HARDING'S VIEW ON BORAH PEACE BILL KEPT SHROUDED

G. O. P. Leaders Conjecture on President's Attitude Toward Arms Conference.

By J. BART CAMPBELL, International News Service.

Now that the adoption by the House of the Borah proposal for a disarmament conference between the United States, Great Britain and Japan is virtually assured, Republican leaders of Congress are wondering today what the President will do with it.

It was pointed out that the Borah proposal accomplishes little more than placing Congress on record as favoring a reduction of the armament of the world's three great naval powers. The President possesses ample authority to take whatever steps he may deem necessary toward a disarmament conference without being requested or authorized to do so by Congress.

APPROVE HARDING'S ATTITUDE.
House Republican leaders declare they are satisfied with the President's explanation to them that he is now attempting to accomplish the very thing suggested by the Borah proposal.

"We are satisfied with the program the President is making toward disarmament," one of them stated.

Congressman Kelley, Republican of Michigan, chairman of the House conference on the navy appropriations bill, agrees with Senator Borah, Republican, of Idaho, that in the expressed willingness of Lloyd George, the British premier, to discuss "limitation of armament with American statesmen," there is to be found a reflection of public opinion in Great Britain, as well as in the United States, in favor of reduced armament and reduced taxation.

But to discuss disarmament, and to agree on disarmament, are, Republican leaders suggest, two entirely different propositions, one comparatively easy, the other apt to be rather difficult of accomplishment.

JAPANESE BARRIERS.

From official information reaching both the Senate Foreign Relations and the House Foreign Affairs committees, it is not so much the British as the Japanese government that is likely to stand in the way of a disarmament conference ending successfully. The belief is entertained by Senators and Congressmen favoring "limitation of armament" however that if the United States and Great Britain once reached a definite understanding on it, Japan will find it expedient to concur in that understanding.

Whether the President has any definite plan for disarmament, Republican leaders of the Senate and House profess not to know. Some of them go so far as to suggest the President may not have yet formulated any disarmament policy, and they are not alone among members of Congress who are speculating as to what he is going to do with the Borah proposal.

T. R.'S WIDOW IN COURT

TO FIGHT $69,000 CLAIM

NEW YORK, June 22.—Suit was filed yesterday by the widow of Colonel Roosevelt and other members of the family to establish the validity of a claim for $69,000 upon the former President's estate.

The co-plaintiffs with Mrs. Edith K. Roosevelt were Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and George F. Roosevelt. All three sued as executors. The $69,000 claim was brought by Mrs. Emma Burket, who holds a note in that amount for which she asserts Colonel Roosevelt was surety. The executors have rejected this note.

SECRET SERVICE MEN TO SPEED-UP WAR GRAFT PROBE

Daugherty Assigns Special Force of Attorneys and Operators to Profiteer Hunt.

Probing for war graft was accelerated today when Attorney General Daugherty announced the assignment of a staff of special attorneys to the job, aided by secret service operatives. The staff of attorneys ordered to handle the graft investigations will lay the ground-work for the new war graft bureau which the Attorney General has been authorized by the President to establish. A director for the bureau soon will be appointed.

A big increase in charges of war profiteering on the Government, and of actual graft, was noted in the past week, following announcement of the new campaign. The legal staff is kept busy weighing these reports, and distributing them into proper channels for immediate investigation.

Searches for evidence of graft on war contracts is proceeding rapidly. Officials declared, and the Attorney General, through the redrawing of all members of the Cabinet, has at his command some of the ablest experts on the Government payroll.

The Attorney General may decide today, after a conference with Secretary of War Weeks, regarding his future course in the case of the United States Harness Company, whose contract for disposition of War Department supplies was revoked. Mr. Daugherty, after discussing issues in the case lately developed with the Secretary of War, probably will determine whether or not the Government will proceed against the company and its promoters in criminal actions.

PARIS BANDITS LOOT

GUN SHOP IN DAYLIGHT

PARIS, June 22.—Five automobile bandits looted the show windows of a well-stocked jewelry store in the Boulevard St. Martin yesterday afternoon, escaping with gold, silver and precious stones valued at 500,000 francs.

Scores of onlookers scurried to cover from revolver and carbine fire opened by three of the men who remained in the automobile while the others smashed the windows and gathered up the booty.

LEADERS INSIST ON QUICK ACTION ON TARIFF BILL

Leakage of Information Divides Support—Measure Expected in House by July 5.

The tariff bill is to be brought from the House Ways and Means Committee within a few days.

House Republican leaders are realizing that the longer reporting the measure is delayed, the more difficult is growing the task of holding support for the bill as agreed on to date in the committee.

Every schedule of the bill has been agreed on by Republican members of the committee, although the agreement is tentative. Despite the precautions taken by Chairman Fordney and others on the committee to keep provisions of the bill and rates secret until the entire bill is made public, some information has leaked out.

Whether this advance information has been correct or incorrect, it has brought a protest from some constituents of individual members of the committee. These protests have led to a demand from the member for reconsideration of the protested rate.

It is to be out of these belated protests and to relieve the pressure on members of the committee that House Republican leaders are insisting on an immediate report on the bill. Leader Mondell has indicated that the bill will be out about July 1. Chairman Fordney has stated he expects to begin its consideration in the House by July 5.

The bill should be completed and made public by the Republicans not later than the middle of next week. This is the end to which Republican leaders are working. It is expected to pass the bill through the House by August 1. The committee expects to prevent amendments or changes except such as are proposed or consented to by it.

GIRL WHO FIRED BULLET IN

CHUM SUED FOR $25,000

CHICAGO, June 22.—Miss Jeannette Hoy, the Southern girl who, two months ago, shot and seriously wounded Miss Katherine Davis and then shot herself was yesterday sued for $25,000 damages by Miss Davis. Both girls were near death for weeks, but have recovered.

The shooting revealed a strange infatuation between the two girls. Miss Davis had grown tired of the attachment and sought to break away. Miss Hoy encountered her on an elevated station platform and shot her. She then ran to the street and shot herself.

Many declarations of deep love and threats were found in the rooms of the girls. One of the later letters from Miss Hoy to Miss Davis contained a bullet has a warning.
